

CLINICAL HOMEOPATHY PROGRAM

“Homeopathy is a wonderful art of healing. It saved my life 40 years ago. It is important to me that I share my knowledge with as many health practitioners as possible. I want them to experience the effectiveness of homeopathy in their practice. I hope that many will benefit by the knowledge of this successful healing method.” Luc Chaltin (2005)

This program is an in-depth study of Clinical Homeopathy as practiced in Europe, and more recently in the United States of America. You will learn the theory and practical application of the clinical approach to homeopathy, as well as review the classical approach. You will study when and how to utilize each approach effectively.

The role of toxins, diet, enzymes, and environmental and emotional factors are studied regarding the individual. The different states of health, from acute disease to the gradual development of chronic disease are explained, as well as the recommended diagnostic tools for use. The typology of Dr. Henri Bernard (one of the most skilled homeopaths from 1930 to 1970) is explained as a tool for accurate and expedient diagnosing. The developmental states of chronic disease (sthenic, transitory, asthenic, and marasmus) are explained as another diagnostic tool.

The five independent courses are available through the online learning platform Thinkific. It is taken at your own pace but generally requires two years of study or until proficiency is apparent. For assistance please call 800-448-7256 and ask for our educator or email info@aachomeopathy.com.

CERTIFICATION: Students will be awarded a Certificate of Completion, in Thinkific, of each of the five independent courses that includes a worksheet and quiz for each chapter. After completing the five courses, a student may opt to complete a case study/dissertation to obtain a diploma. The student must submit a description of the treatment of a patient, of the student him/herself, or a family member. We are interested in the steps that were followed from diagnosis to remedy selection, to the response from the remedies. The dissertation must follow the clinical approach taught in this program and be your personal work. You may use homeopathic writings other than this program to write your piece and personal research in the field, such as provings or theoretical considerations. The dissertation must be typed and may be submitted in hardcopy or electronic form. For blind students, an audio tape/recording is welcomed.

A diploma and authority to use the letters D.A. Hom. (Diplomate of the American Academy of Clinical Homeopathy) are awarded to those who complete the dissertation.

Students who are working on their dissertation will have access to the NEWTON homeopathics® professional (PRO) line at the retail rate. After receipt of the diploma, those with a business license availability changes to the wholesale rate. Students who are health practitioners may have access to the PRO line at the wholesale rate after credential verification.

NOTE: To facilitate understanding, it is recommended that you complete the parts of the program in the order that they are presented. You will also need a materia medica and repertory to look up the symptoms of the different remedies. We advise the use of Boericke's New Manual of Homeopathic Materia Medica with Repertory by William Boericke, which contains both a materia medica and repertory. You can click here to order from newtonlabs.net (hardcover printed in India) or purchase it elsewhere if desired. Many additional versions of materia medicas (and other homeopathic-related books) are readily available at www.nature-reveals.com.
